Course Description: This workshop is designed for those professionals who need an introduction to the basic rules of administration, scoring, and interpretation of the WJIII ACH Battery. The participants will:

- review revision goals and new features
- learn general administration and scoring guidelines for the Standard and Extended Batteries
- learn the administration and scoring of all tests, with a particular emphasis on tests new to the battery
- learn interpretive options for the Standard and Extended Batteries
- review the available levels of information, types of scores, and profiles
- review a sample narrative and score report
- become familiar with the features of the Compuscore and Profiles Program
- become familiar with the Form C Brief Battery and Version 3.0 Compuscore

This training is designed for those familiar or unfamiliar with the WJ-R. Practitioners would benefit from taking both COG and ACH training even if they administer only one of the batteries. This way each member of the team can more fully appreciate the performance implications.

NOTE: Trainees are asked to bring test books, test records, and related materials to the training session.

About the Instructor: Jim Creed, M.Ed, LD Specialist, is an educational consultant who has conducted education/learning and training for a variety of school systems and agencies. He is a professional trainer for Woodcock Johnson III, Stanford-Binet 5 and Battelle Developmental Inventory 2nd Edition.
