Course Description: Expand your digital camera use and skills. Use your digital camera to create projects in your classroom, communicate with parents and highlight your students' performance. Participants will download pictures, develop editing skills and integrate pictures into classroom projects. Use this opportunity to investigate innovative and exciting ways to make your classroom come alive. Class size will be limited to 12 participants to insure the success of each individual.

About the Instructor: Barbara Lanzoni is a former classroom teacher who excels in her work with teachers and students as they integrate technology into the classroom. Barbara's course, Integrating Technology With Education, is an integral part of TEC's teacher licensure program. She has successfully provided professional development workshops for K-12 teachers as well as graduate level courses that demonstrate how to use technology in subject specific areas.
