Course Description: Sub-Saharan Africa! Not a place that many of us have traveled – or perhaps even know much about. Yet, it is critical that our students know about the lives of people living in the countries of Sub-Saharan Africa. This course will examine the physical and cultural landscape of Africa south of the Sahara, with special emphasis on the native cultures of the area and their influence on the landscape; the revolutionary effects of European interventions and conquests; and the modern political, cultural, and economic climates.

About the Instructor: Osama Abdelgadir is an Associate Professor of Geography at Framingham State University. He earned a PhD from Clark University in 1989. He taught at the University of Khartoum, Sudan, from 1989 to 1996. He has been teaching at Framingham State University since 1998 where he teaches a variety of courses including Geography of Sub-Saharan Africa, Physical Geography, and Environmental Geography.
